CONSULTANT SOLICITOR ROLES

VIRTUAL LAW

Virtual Law is a full-service, cost effective commercial law firm with nationwide coverage.

Virtual Law consultant solicitors are senior commercial lawyers. Typically, they are former senior in-house counsel or ex-partners of top 50 law firms specifically selected for their exceptional strategic commercial knowledge and entrepreneurial spirit.

Virtual Law does not maintain a partnership structure or carry high central costs. Instead, Virtual Law takes full advantage of technology to offer clients this exceptional expertise through a wide range of business legal services. The low overhead business model ensures Virtual Law's services can be both cost-effective and flexible, tailored to your needs now and in the long term. Jam today. They are your clients so why shouldn't you earn up to 85% of billings?

Virtual Law offers unrivalled opportunities for experienced, exceptional commercial solicitors to develop their own profitable and unhindered client relationships. Working in a self-employed capacity, your relationship with Virtual Law will comprise a flexible, non-exclusive service agreement. We are eager to hear from those who:

- Possess strong commercial acumen and sound strategic commercial knowledge;
- Have a client following, or can demonstrate a potential following through a realistic, achievable business plan;
- Enjoy a collegiate approach and are willing to work with other Consultant Solicitors to promote Virtual Law's practice areas; and
- Are at least 10 years' PQE, attained either in senior in-house roles or in top the 50 private practice firms.

We are expanding our network of senior lawyers.

Virtual Law's flexible 'virtual' business model is designed to ensure exceptional yet cost-effective legal expertise is accessible to all businesses, from multinationals to start-ups. From a consultant solicitor's perspective, this dispersed, technology-driven model also offers exceptional benefits:

Compliance and Insurance: Virtual Law provides a safe home for your clients and a proactive platform from which to grow your practice. We offer a secure, compliant client management system; administrative support; a client account; marketing support; and professional indemnity insurance up to £5m.

Work/Life Balance: 'Virtual practice' means working from home or from a hot desk in your client's location. Away from the regular commute, management and administrative burdens your time is spent more productively and your work/life balance is enhanced.

Financial Advantage: Our consultant solicitors retain the lion's share of their fees. For every client you own, there is the potential to retain up to 85% of your billings. Refer a client within the network, and you receive 15% of billings.

Independence: The relationship between Virtual Law and its self-employed consultant solicitors is both flexible and non-exclusive.
